

East Carteret High School Wins Two Best Attorney Awards at North Carolina Academy of Justice High School Mock Trial Regional Competitions

Top Row: Laura Russell, Brady Tosto, Brian Matthis, Tyndall Dudley, Brenden McCreary, M. Harper Owens, James Haught, Stephanie Laughton; Bottom Row: Teacher Julia Millush, Mallory Melton, Julie Rowland, A. David Jones Jr., George Hachmeister, Kelsea Munyan, Candace Morris.

East Carteret's Two Mock Trial Teams: Newton's Law and Tora, Tora, Tora

Top Row: Attorney Advisor J. Jefferson Newton, parent Royce Dudley; Second Row: Brady Tosto, Brenden McCreary, W. Tyndall Dudley, Brian Matthew, James Haight, George Hachmeister, M. Harper Owens, Dixie Kitty Goodwin; Bottom Row: Julie Rowland, Kelsea Munyan, A. David Jones, Stephanie Laughton, Candace Morris, and ECHS teacher Julia Millush

East Carteret competed in the Academy of Justice High School Mock Trial Competitions in Wilmington on February 20th, winning two Best Attorney Awards for senior A. David Jones, Jr., and junior George Hachmeister.

The Newton's Law Team was captained by ECHS National Forensic League President, senior A. David Jones, Jr. and junior Candace Morris. Their legal team was completed with senior Mallory Melton and witnesses, Tyndall Dudley, Julie Rowland, Brenden McCreary, and bailiff Kelsea Munyan.

Tora, Tora, Tora was captained by juniors Stephanie Laughton and George Hachmeister who filled the legal team with Brian Matthis and witnesses M. Harper Owens, Laura Russell, Brady Tosto, and bailiff James Haight.

Local attorneys Jeff Newton, Cathy Fuller Jones, and Stevenson Weeks assisted East Carteret teacher Julia Millush in preparing the students for this academically thrilling event.